When entering the meeting, you will join the main session. In this session, the Keynotes, Welcome Address and Closing Remarks will take place.

The panels are hosted via breakout sessions. Online participants can join the online panels as well as the in-house panels. You find the breakout session in you Zoom toolbar.

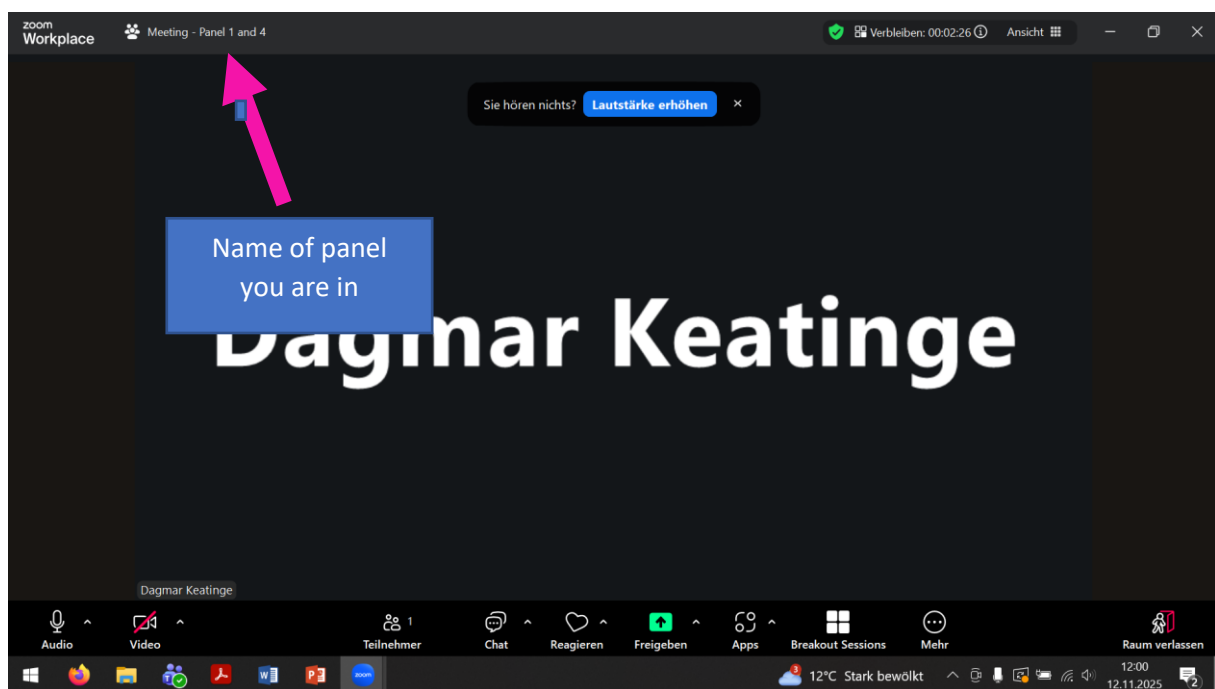

To join a breakout session, please simply click on the icon “Breakout Sessions” on your Zoom toolbar. Depending on your personal settings and the device you use, the toolbar might appear on the top of your screen or the “Breakout Sessions” icon might only be accessible as a choice in the “More” menu.

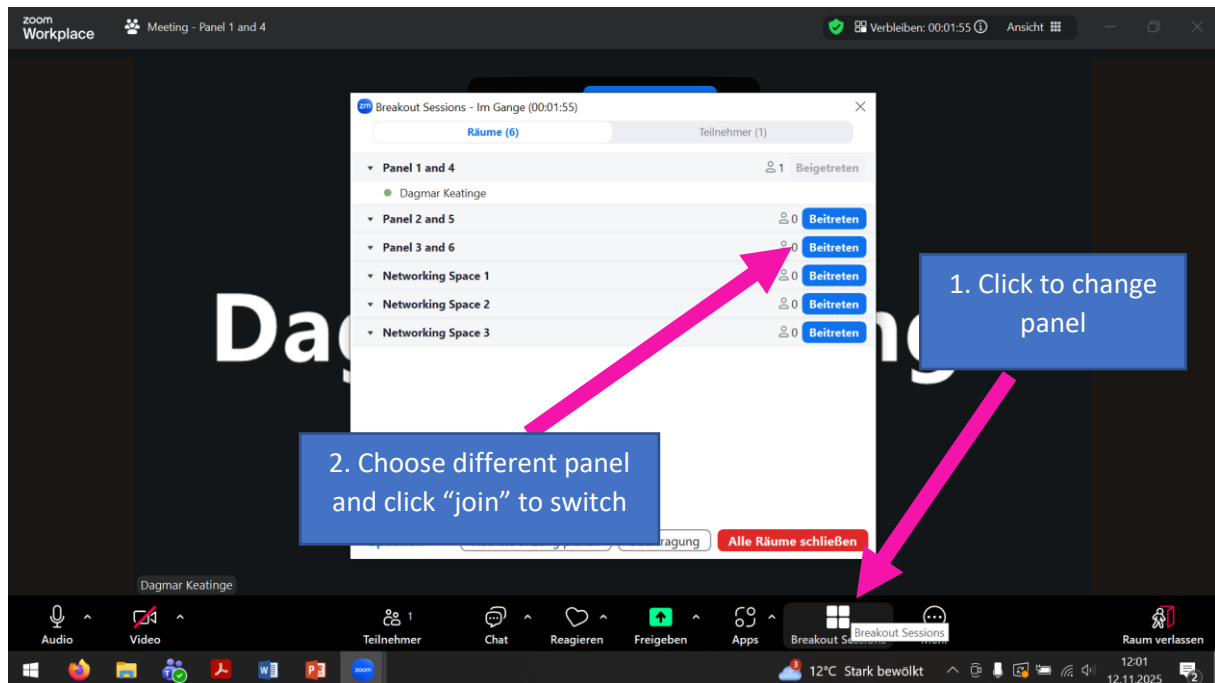

You will now see your choice of panels/breakout sessions. You can join any panel without any further clearance of the session host by clicking join. You will only be asked to confirm your choice.

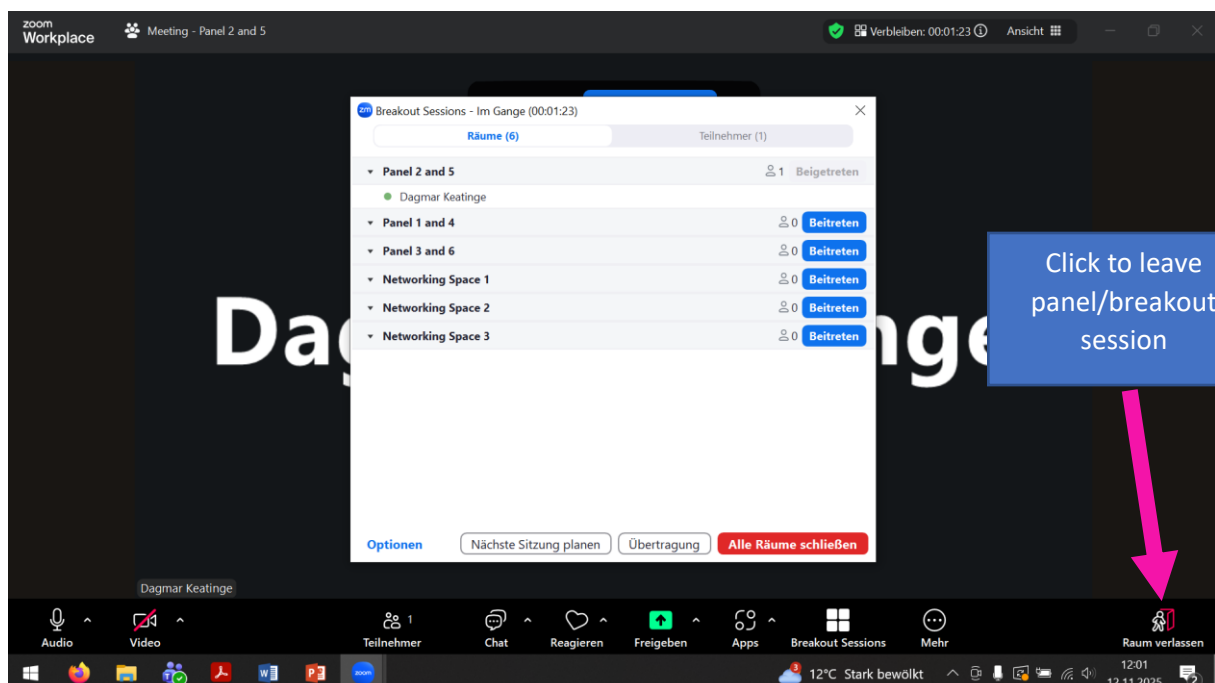

After a few seconds, you will enter the respective panel / breakout session. You can see which panel you are in on the top of your screen.

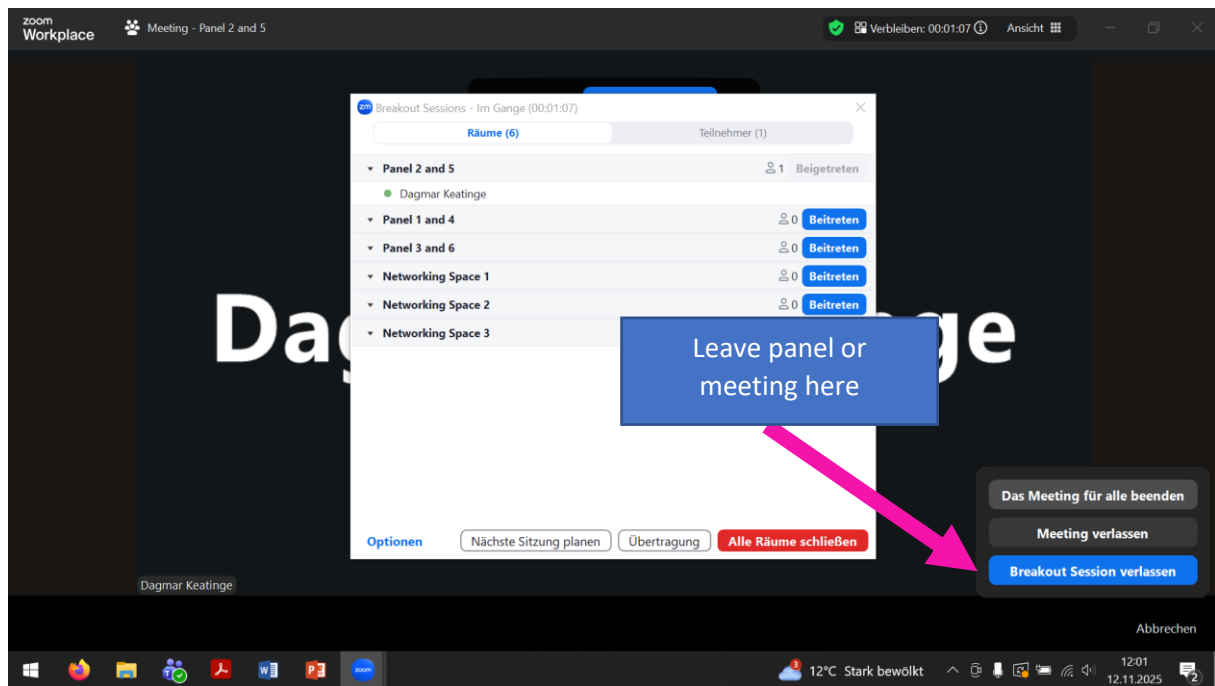

If you would like to change to a different panel, click on the “Breakout Session” Icon again to see the choice of panels. Click “Join” to switch to a different panel. You can do so anytime.

To return to the main session or to leave the conference for the time being, first click “Leave room” on the right-hand side of the tool bar.

You now have a choice to leave the breakout session (highlighted) or to leave the meeting. Choosing “Leave Breakout Session” will take you back to the main session; choosing “Leave Meeting” will disconnect you from the conference meeting altogether. You can, of course, join the conference again at any time via the link provided.

If you would like to connect to other participants of the conference, you can do so by joining one of the online networking spaces.

If you would like to reach out to one or more participants directly and arrange meeting them, we recommend contacting them via the chat function. A list of all participants on Zoom at the time will appear in the chat window. Now you can choose the person you would like to connect to and message them to make arrangements which networking space you would like to use or exchange contact details.
