

The Institut of Evangelische Theologie and ZeKK (Paderborn) as well as John Carroll University and the Touhy Center for Interreligious Understanding (University Heights, USA) announce a second Lecture Series

On the Reception History of Sarah and Hagar

Oct 22, 7.00-8.30 pm CET

Juliana Claassens (Stellenbosch University, South Africa):
“‘But a Promise is a Promise’: Trauma and Recognition in the Sarah and Hagar Narrative (Genesis 16; 21) and Damon Galgut’s The Promise”

Meira Polliack (Tel Aviv University) presenting from Paderborn: “Hagar’s Reception among Medieval Judeo Arabic Exegetes and Their Interreligious Context”

Nov 5, 7.00-8.30 pm CET

Carol Bakhos (UCLA, Los Angeles): “Fear and Loathing:
The Story of Sarah and Hagar”

Noah Bickart (John Carroll University, University Heights): “Ketura is Hagar: An Anti-Pauline Polemic in Genesis Rabbah”

Nov 19, 7.00-8.30 pm CET

Annemarie Pilarski (Theologische Fakultät Paderborn):
“Between Allegory and Personhood: Sara and Hagar in Christian Patristic Interpretation”

Zeki Saritopak (John Carroll University, University Heights): “Theological and Spiritual Reflections on Sarah and Hagar’s Place in the Islamic Tradition”

Dec 3, 7.00-8.30 pm CET

Ulrike Bechmann (Graz): “To See and To Be Seen in the Story of Hagar”

Andrew King (Carson-Newman University, Jefferson City): “Transformed in Transit: The Body of Hagar in Arabic Tradition”

Participate
here:

[https://uni-paderborn-de.zoom-
x.de/j/64886447525?pwd=nylCfl8QHf9K1BSm46K1DeBX8u5i
1c.1](https://uni-paderborn-de.zoom-
x.de/j/64886447525?pwd=nylCfl8QHf9K1BSm46K1DeBX8u5i
1c.1)

Artwork by Siona Benjamin, printed by permission